A Tireless Worker

To the Editor:

I noticed in the November 22 edition, the thank you letter that the Millbury Little League Bingo Committee submitted. I would like to add my personal thanks to the committee for all its hard work over the years. I would like to especially thank Evelyn Plante for her tireless work since Little League Bingo started. Evelyn has no children playing Little League she just likes to help people, and I think it's time that Evelyn receives the thanks she richly deserves.

Return of Two-Party Politics

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank al the voters who participated in the recent State Senate race in the first Worcester and Middlesex District. It was highly gratifying to see a return to two-party politics in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

As State Senator, I will be accessible and responsive to my constituents. I began my campaign only seven weeks before election day and subsequently there are still many people who have not met me yet or had a chance to voice their concerns to me. In the months ahead, I look forward to taking advantage of every available opportunity to meet with members of the concerned public.

I am deeply honored that the voters have placed their trust in me. It is my pledge, that in the next two years as State Senator, I will do everything possible to justify that trust.

I wish all of you a very safe and happy holiday season.

Matthew J. Amorello
Senator-Elect
First Worcester and Middlesex District

A Heartfelt Thank You

To the Editor:

The members of the Charles F. Minney V.F.W. Post 3329 and the Ladies Auxiliary say a very big "Thank You" to all the people who so very generously responded to the clothes drive we sponsored for the Salvation Army warmup program for the homeless and needy families. Thanks to all of you, many people will be helped.

May God bless you all, and we wish everyone a Happy New Year.

Rosanna LaBelle, Chairman
Lucille LaMontagne and Bertha Lee, Co-Chairmen

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Park Hill Residents Meet With Selectmen

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The December 18 Selectmen's meeting was called to order at 7 p.m. Board members enjoyed a box of holiday chocolates while conducting the business of the evening.

Tree Removal

Tree Warden Bill Berthiaume was present to discuss several requests for the removal of trees throughout the town. He said most of those listed have already been taken care of, with the exception of one tree in the Greenwood/Rogers Street area. He said he did cut down one tree at that location but found another did not obstruct the view of the road heading into Worcester.

Board Chairman Jude Cristo asked Berthiaume to check with the Safety Officer on the second tree since he had recommended that both be taken down.

Highway Surveyor Joe Chase said there have been complaints from the South Main Street area concerning large hemlocks with low hanging branches that are being hit by the upper stop light of school buses.

Berthiaume said he would check with the owner of the trees to see if the branches could be trimmed.

Chase also referred to a concern from Ed Wilczynski who said an elm tree on his property may be diseased and he thought it should be removed.

Berthiaume said he checked the elm on several occasions and it is not diseased.

Selectman Donald Gauthier asked Berthiaume about his availability during emergencies.

Berthiaume said calls can come to him at his work place and his men will respond. He said he is usually notified by the police department when an emergency response is required.

Center School

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase reported that the old front doors at the Center School have been removed and the carpenters have made a temporary enclosure.

Cristo said the board should give some consideration to a feasibility study for the Center School. He said the study should include the use of the school by the youth center and also the possibility of establishing a senior center there with the 3rd floor for office rental space. Cristo noted that such a plan would require rehabilitation for the whole building and the installation of an elevator.

Cristo reported that board members viewed the center school and the Asa Waters mansion last week. He said it appears that both buildings are "pretty beat" as they are probably not functionable for the use they are getting.

Park Hill Avenue

The board met with several residents of the Park Hill area who were present to seek the board's help in resolving issues surrounding excessive speeding and updating of the road to provide safer travel and safety for residents in that area.

Spokesman Robert Luikey noted that several measures have already been taken to address concerns, including the painting of a yellow line up the hill to Holman Road. He asked for a continuation of that line to Rte. 20. Luikey also noted that the cutting back of some shrubs and the installation of two "Slow" sings have contributed to improving conditions.

Luikey then expressed concerns with the location of a school bus stop just over the crest of the hill that is a potential hazard for children waiting for a pickup near the driveway of Clearview Country Club.

Residents in the area are also concerned with excessive speeding and the screeching of tires created in most part, Luikey said, by the young tradesmen at the carpentry school on Holman Road. He said the traffic in the area is heaviest at 6:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. as the students come and go from the school.

Luikey did note that not all of the speeding can be attributed to the school since the road is a shortcut for many from Rte. 20.

"We hope more can be done," he said, suggesting that the installation of a "Radar In Use" sign may also help.

Cristo said the Safety Officer and the School Department should be asked to look at the school bus pick-up area. He also suggested that the police department utilize radar more often in that area.

Another resident of the area noted that rubbish trucks are using the street for a shortcut to Rte. 20 which is against the posting of truck limitation signs recently installed.

Chase suggested that Wheelabrator-Millbury Inc. be contacted as pressure from them would be more effective.

Salting of Roads

The board then met with Joe Chase and Terry Burke Dotson, who several weeks ago requested the board to look at the use of salting town roads, especially in areas near the town wells.

Joe Chase said the state uses more chemicals than the town in its sanding and salting operations; a ratio of 1-1 of sand to salt for the state and 6-1 ratio for the town. He also said there are some drawbacks to the methods used to apply calcium chloride vs. sodium chloride.

According to Chase, liquid calcium can have a detrimental effect on metal and the flake type doesn't keep a long enough life to be effective.

Chase also said that New York and several other states have been experimenting with the use of calcium chloride while Massachusetts is way behind in its experiments. "DEP (Department of Environmental Protection) has not made a decision on whether calcium chloride is hazardous," Chase said.

In response to a suggestion by Dotson that more sand be used without sodium chloride, Chase said that sand has been declared hazardous because silica can be released into the air if the sand is allowed to stand in the road too long before being picked up. He also said using just sand would pose a safety problem as roads would become packed . He also said it is a policy of the State to return the road to pre-storm conditions as soon as possible.

Cristo suggested that Dotson may want to take the issue to the State. "Joe's doing what he can locally," he said. "It seems like a bare road policy has to be dealt with at the state level."

Dotson said that the town should consider the purchase of land surrounding the town wells if any is available. She also said she would like to see the water study committee get "fired up again." Cristo said he has not heard any more from the committee since the town meeting.

Miscellaneous

- Joe Chase reported that a settlement over a drainage problem at Manor road is imminent as the property owners have agreed to turn over $1,000 in escrow, held back from Diversified Construction, to pay for the town to resolve a drainage problem at their property.

- Joe Chase asked for a transfer of funds through the finance committee for $1,000 to restore the funds in the sign account. The board concurred 5-0.

- Selectman Roland Lachance asked Chase to look at the curve in front of Davidson Sanctuary with the thought of possibly putting up a guard rail. He said there have been two occasions when cars have ended up in a resident's front yard. Chase agreed to look at the area.

- Earl Chase said town-owned land being sought for purchase in West Millbury through tax title acquisition is assessed for $22,000. He said the land could be auctioned off without going to town meeting for approval.

- Chase said he has forwarded information from a previous study on the Dorothy Pond area to the City of Worcester. The City is seeking funding from the state to clean up problems in the Broadmeadow Brook area.

- George D'Auteuil, Church Street resident and owner of Frank Rubbish, asked the board if any recycling has been implemented at the town hall. He said it was his understanding that this was the only town building not involved in recycling.

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase, who heads a committee on municipal recycling, said the committee's report to the board will be forthcoming after January 1st.

Cristo said the board will wait for the report before it goes forward with a definite recycling plan.

The meeting adjourned at 9:00 p.m.

Sutton Chosen for Math/ Science Project

By Edward J. Cooney

SUTTON - The December 10 Sutton School Committee meeting began at 7 p.m. with a call to order by Chairwoman Elizabeth Bacon. Minutes for November 11 were approved unanimously.

Math/Science Project

Superintendent Gordon Spence relayed his thoughts on the Sutton School System being selected as a demonstration site for a Math/Science project, subject to grant funding from the National Science Foundation (NSF).

He said Sutton Schools were one of five school systems chosen for the demonstration project, but he was not sure at this time how Sutton was chosen. He attributed the selection to the influence of Elementary Principal Beverly Brown who has been effective in attaining projects in the past.

Brown said that in speaking with representatives at the Regional Office of Education, it was said that the criteria for selection was based upon communities with either a minority population, lower spending for schools, or a school system looking to start math/science programs.

Spence referred to communications he has received from State Department of Education representatives involved in grant programs who told him the state is making an effort to support changes in schools in keeping with national goals, emphasizing math/science areas.

Spence noted that National Science Foundation monies haven't been designated as yet, and will not be made known until the Spring.

Spence said the Mass. Department of Education is encouraging the five communities that were selected to begin some of their activities using "demonstration and exemplary," funds available through the Eisenhower Math/Science Education Act. Grants ranging from $5,000 to $15,000 are available.

The math/science project is targeted to grades K-8. Spence said the school principals would be attending a meeting on December 12 in Quincy with state department representatives to discuss the NSF application and Eisenhower grants. It is expected that the grants would be awarded in January or February in order to expedite the commencement of programs.

According to Spence, along with Sutton, the other communities chosen were Boston, Holyoke, Lowell, and New Bedford. He noted that local colleges in those areas have agreed to provide cooperative services to schools in the math/ science projects. He also said there was no designated local college for the Central Massachusetts area.

After School Activities

Spence discussed implementing after school classes in ballet and creative dance as well as instrumental music through the Performing Arts School of Worcester. He said he spoke with Shirley Benjamin of the School who asked if Sutton would be interested. Spence said he indicated to her that Sutton was interested and he would be meeting with the principals and music director concerning her proposal.

Spence noted that back in the early 1980's, Sutton had similar programs with the Performing Arts School but gradually interest waned.

Horne asked if the children would have to pay a fee. Spence said a fee would be have to be paid by participants with a higher fee for those attending from outside the Town.

Committeeman Glen Anderson asked if it would be a break even situation for the schools. Spence said it would as the Performing Arts School would pay for all costs.

Activities Coordinator

Spence proposed the creation of an after school activities coordinator position to assist with such programs as the Performing Arts program, the recreation committee's use of facilities, and a proposal for adult education programs. He said it would be expected that an adult education program would be self-supporting.

"We need someone to be around and coordinate things; to set guidelines and rules to be followed," Spence said.

Anderson asked if the position would be filled by a faculty member or an outsider.

Spence said he believed the position had to be posted with consideration given to years in service, experience, and background.

High School Principal Ed Grant said it should be someone inside the system rather than someone from the outside who does not know the expectations of the school system.

The rate of pay for the position would be based on an hourly rate as contracted at $13.50 per hour. Spence said the coordinator would be responsible for surveying the community for areas of interest for courses, developing the same, hiring part time instructors, and helping to coordinate adult recreation programs.

Committeeman Andrew Smith noted that several people have spoken to him over the past six months concerning the possibility of establishing adult education courses.

Committee member Linda Roach suggested getting the PTA involved to help with a survey of the town to see if there is enough community interest in an adult education program. She said the sub-committee on curriculum could take on the project of surveying the community with the PTA and get that information back to Spence for evaluation.

Smith made a motion to have the curriculum sub-committee survey the community for interest in adult education courses. The voted in favor was unanimous.

In-Service Programs

Spence said he would be asking the committee to think about granting one increment credit for in-service programs. He suggested one semester hour per 15 hours of viewing and participation by staff in telecommunication courses through Massachusetts Cooperative Educational Television (MCET).

Spence said several teachers were already using the telecommunication courses for their own self-improvement.

He also suggested that parents who couldn't attend a financial aid seminar put on by the guidance department could use a video on that subject that was taped from a telecommunication program by the guidance department.

The vote was unanimous to approve Spence's request to grant one increment credit for in-service programs.

Budget

Spence briefly reviewed the budget and told the committee he would be bringing in a working budget next month. He noted that the budget is tight, and recently the school department has been mandated by Special Education regulations to provide a student with daily transportation to a program in Ashland at a cost of $75 per day for transportation.

Spence said the Individual Education Plan the student brought to the school system was court ordered. He said that the committee could seek additional funds for that unexpected expense through the Finance Committee.

Anderson noted that since the schools are mandated to provide this service, the committee should not penalize the regular education programs but go to the town for the funds.

Spence said his previous updates on the budget are now obsolete and that it will be necessary to use spending restraints to prevent a possible deficit. He said that fuel is another area of concern that is not yet resolved because of the fluctuating prices.

extensive evaluation of Baker's performance. "In my estimation," Blois said in the letter, "Chief Baker has passed his probationary period with more than a satisfactory grade."

The permanent appointment will be effective immediately and will be for an indefinite term as prescribed by the Town's charter.

Baker will receive a salary of $883.00 per week.

Selectman Dave Strieby said he spoke with Mary K. Connor earlier in the evening and she agreed that the Board should act on the appointment this evening despite her absence.

The vote was 3-1 with Johnson abstaining.

Johnson explained, "I have no quarrel with the appointment. The only quarrel I have is within myself. I have no quarrel with the chief. I think he has done one terrific job. We are very friendly, but there is such a thing as credibility. Everybody owes themselves a little bit of something. Such a thing as credibility I owe to myself. I for one go along with the program, be very happy with the outcome, support whatever happens to the utmost. I myself, to settle my own inner feelings, I will just abstain from voting."

Senator-elect Amorello

Senator-Elect Matt Amorello addressed the board and promised to be accessible to his constituents in the nine towns in his district. "I just want you to know that I'm going to work closely with Governor Weld in making sure that we in this district aren't overlooked in the upcoming budget," Amorello said. "I have met with the Senate President and I feel pretty confident I can work with him also."

LaBonte said he hoped that Amorello would continue to back the interchange proposal, maintain local aid, and reward rather than penalize towns prudently run. "One of the reasons you're in office today," LaBonte said, "was the action of the legislature when they raised the gasoline tax and at the same time cut the highway monies to cities and towns."

Amorello agreed, saying, "One of the things I'm going to be working against is the Central Artery project. There's no way they can convince me that it will have impact in the central part of the State...except to take resources out of this part of the State."

In response to LaBonte's comment that he was looking forward to working with Amorello "even though we're in different parties," Amorello responded, "After November 6th, there is no party affiliation."

Chizy invited Amorello to visit the King Farm and, if finances improve, to assist in placing the farm under Agricultural Preservation Restrictions. This would keep one of Sutton's most beautiful locations "open space" and free of development in perpetuity.

The meeting adjourned at 9 p.m.

Students Participate in Puppet Program

MILLBURY - Twenty-five students at the R.E. Shaw Elementary School participated in a puppet program on December 14. Judy O'Hare, master puppeteer, used the talents of 12 third graders and 13 sixth graders to present two programs, "Memories of a Chinese Grandmother" and "The Daughter of the Dragon King." One presentation was a shadow puppet program while the other employed life-size puppets and a 15 foot roaring dragon.

The students who were involved in the presentation were: Valerie Spencer, Noelle Ebert, Melissa Woeful, Chris Lavallee, Jason Cadlan, Matthew Bassett, Megan Swett, Ericka Letendre, Alicia O'Brien, Vanessa Field, Denise LaPerle, Kim Marentette, Kurt Bernier, Erin Dromgoole, Eric LaForte, Melissa Piscitelli, Jillian Carey, Travis Perry, Wendy Magnuson, Matt Landry, Tim Ullman, Jillian Cadorette, Liz Rainville, Jason Panarelli, and Meghan Paquette. Congratulations to all!

The program "You and Me Puppets" was sponsored by the Millbury Parents' Club. The students and staff would like to thank the club for making such a wonderful experience possible.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

Ho! Ho! Ho! It was my thrilling privilege to play Santa Claus recently, along with Mrs. Santa Claus. We visited the children's play group at the Elmwood Street School and then went all over that school. Then it was to the Assumption School, the Town Hall, the Post Office, the Asa Water's Home, all of the banks and stores in town, and the Adult Day Care Center as well as both dentists and the medical center. We had a ball.

My partner in this venture was none other than Millbury's own Mother Teresa, by the name of Aline Bourdeau. What a thrilling lady she is. She has a part time job of well over 40 hours a week at Notre Dame. At her invitation, we had a delicious Christmas lunch there this year where she first paraded as Mrs. Santa Claus. The waitresses were all elves as well, and she made most of those costumes. Her many activities thru her church are legendary, and her exciting generous spirit is well known. God bless her.

It was a thrill to put on the costume and play the part of the one who represents love and giving at Christmas time. All I could think of was how to put on a costume that would be a representative of my Lord Jesus Christ and His loving Spirit. Maybe I should wear a Roman Collar like my brothers in the ministry. But, I'm quite sure they will join me in saying that it takes more than a costume. All of us need to be filled with the Spirit of our God and be the Light of the World and the Salt of the Earth as He has called us to be.

The very best in the New Year. The Lord richly bless you all real good. Amen.

Millbury Parents Club

MILLBURY - The Millbury Parents' Club held its annual Christmas party on December 11 at the V.F.W. hall. A penny raffle was part of the evening's fun. All money collected was donated to the District Nursing Society. Club members would like to thank the Christmas Party Committee - Eve, Robin, and Ginny - for a job well done.

The next meeting of the club will be on Tuesday, January 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Shaw Media Center. The school administrators will address the club and respond to any questions.

Women's Volleyball

MILLBURY - The Millbury Adult Education Women's Volleyball class will begin its second ten-week session Monday, January 14, at the Elmwood Street School gym at 7 p.m. Registration is $25 and payable that evening.

Sutton Planning Board Holds Organizational Meeting on Master Plan

By Lawrence Moore

SUTTON - Scott Paul, Planning Board Chairman, opened the meeting on Wednesday, December 12 at 7:20 p.m. in the large meeting room in the Sutton Town Hall. Planning Board members Dick Moran, Denise Harrison, Secretary Diane Spinney, and Gary Reschke, Town Planner were in attendance. About 30 town residents and/or observers were present.

After outlining the meeting agenda, Paul introduced the first of five orientation speakers, David Hulseberg, Millbury Town Planner. He reported that the principal aim of the Millbury Master Plan now being developed is the integration of present and future, making the town into a picture representing the total community as seen by its residents.

Hulseberg said a proposed mall on Rte. 146 will have wide ranging effects on Millbury, and necessitates immediate decisions about the nature of the development. He said "we don't want to see curb cuts, we don't want to see a Route 9, and we don't want to see a Framingham happening in Millbury. It takes planning and hard work" to achieve solid growth.

Hulseberg said that present zoning by-laws in both Millbury and Sutton are inadequate. "We don't have a 'height' by law. In developing a 146 Highway Overlay District, the effects of current zoning controls became obviously intolerable, and did not provide a reasonable base for the economic development of the town."

According to Hulseberg, Millbury's objective will be to encourage development by positive zoning, and at the same time make "open space" an essential part of all development. Usage will be determined by the size of the "nodes" or development acreage. Larger parcels can be more concentrated, but 50% of space must be left open.

In order to encourage developers, Hulseberg explained that Millbury is proposing "transfer development rights," through which a developer may purchase other land in town, on a 2 for 1 basis, and agree to keep that land "open" in perpetuity. The town will seek to connect these transfer tracts into larger open spaces for conservation and recreation uses. By doing this, Hulseberg said, "we've allowed economic prosperity along the 146 corridor to build the tax base. You have to find mechanisms to encourage the type of behavior that you're seeking." Exceptionally good design will, in return, be allowed greater density, for example.

Hulseberg said there will be intersections rather than curb cuts, cluster development, no "quick trip" generating business, no fast food, no storage of lubricants, but rather office, research, mall, hotel and other positive activities that are economically good for the town and cause less "problem" activity.

A goal of 6% to 8% of a development's cost is sought by Millbury for "off-site benefits," for which the town will prepare a "wish list" of needed infrastructure and other community projects.

Hulseberg said the goal of aesthetic development will be reached through the use of a comprehensive "site plan review by-law" which will protect, among other things, strip development.

In response to a question from Bud Gurney about the 6% to 8% wish list, Hulseberg reported that the Emerald Mall developers bought North Attleboro a new fire station and a fire truck.

In answer to a question about "open space," Hulseberg replied that Millbury has surveyed acreage that would be recommended for "transfer development rights."

In answer to a question about sewers, Hulseberg agreed that Millbury, which had sewer availability, was in better shape for developers than towns which do not have sewerage.

Tom Schwartz, the director of the Blackstone Valley Development Corporation (BVDC), reported on two major projects for the Valley. The turnpike connector is seen as the catalyst for development of an area fed by and available to Boston, Springfield, Providence, Worcester and Hartford. A good labor availability and a superior quality of life combine to form a sound basis for economic growth. He stressed that zoning should be created to enhance the "quality of life" as well as economic growth.

The completion of the Heritage Corridor is seen as the second most stimulating project for the BVDC. He warned, however, that inevitable economic growth must not be allowed to lower the "quality of life" of the area. He cited it as a major asset in presenting the Valley as a site for a prospective developer.

Bill Scanlon of the Central Massachusetts Regional Planning Commission (CMRPC) reported on the part Regional Planning plays in Sutton development. Traffic surveys and planning, setting standards for growth, and a computer mapping service make up part of their work. The Geographic Information System enables them to prepare overlay maps of land use, sewers, historical sites, recreation uses and other factors. They are engaged in a two year study of traffic along Rte. 146 which, with their statistical data, will enable the Commission to prepare computer generated projections of the growth in the valley of housing, employment, development build-up, traffic and congestion, and which will provide solutions to anticipated problems.

Nancy Britton, Community Planner with the National Heritage Corridor Program, U.S. Park Service, complimented the Valley because it was one of only three Heritage Corridors in the United States. The National significance of the Valley as the birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution is the reason for its selection. The Corridor Program is to develop a cultural heritage plan to be carried out by a Commission of 19 people from community, business, and government.

There are five technical reports appended to the program: Economic Assessment, Land Use, Historic Resources Inventory, Design Guide-Line Standards, and an Interpretive Plan advising how to publicize the information. The reports will be available in the Sutton Library. The Corridor

Program is planned to be a partnership with the 26 communities from Worcester to Providence to protect, preserve and interpret the natural and historic assets of the Valley.

A cooperative 5 year agreement has been entered into by the Commission with the Rhode Island Parks Association, the Blackstone River Watershed Association and the National Park Service to establish a Greenway program from Worcester to Providence. It will provide recreation and scenic enhancement of the Blackstone River and its tributaries.

Steven Rice, president of the Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce, reported the Chamber to be the fastest growing Chamber on the East Coast. He offered the resources of the Chambers' active committees to the Master Plan Project.

Rice discussed the problems and opportunities that would arise from the opening of the 146/Turnpike interchange. Economic development and jobs would benefit the towns and the people of the Valley. He felt the time-delay of both the current recession and the opening of the interchange were opportunities for towns to plan for orderly rather than explosive growth. He compared Worcester's dual tax rates with the Valley's single tax approach, a great advantage.

Rice also sees many problems ahead: financing, a potential "explosion" as conditions jell, and threats to the quality of life in the Valley as a result of waste, noise, traffic and general development. He hoped that proper planning could develop a synergy between development and the towns.

Gary Reschke thanked the panel for their presentations and proceeded to discuss the Master Plan process. He outlined the committee structure which would make recommendations regarding existing and future reports, proposals, and by-laws, in each of their areas.

The Committees and their initial volunteers are: Environment/Recreation - Janet Walters, Deborah M. Priestly, Linda Nelson; Commercial/Industrial/Economic Trends - Larry E. Salem, David Kiley, Steve Rice, Anne Marie Austin, Mary Alice Herman; Education - Nick Moran; Housing - Jerry Markeseines, Carl Hutchinson; Traffic/Transportation/Utilities - Mary K. Connor, David LaVallee; Financial/Community Facilities - Janice S. Whittier.

The Planning Board and Reschke will work with the Committees. They will formulate goals and objectives covering a time span of 10-15 years, define action items, develop a Capital Improvement Plan, an operating budget, and non-budgetary or staff activity plans.

A detailed outline of the work of each Committee has been developed by Reschke, and will be used as the committees are brought up to full strength. It is hoped that a Master Plan Draft will be available in the summer or fall of 1991, at which time Public Hearings will be held and presentations made to Selectmen and the public.

Mary K. Connor, Chairwoman of the Sutton Board of Selectmen, brought up the importance of working closely on the zoning changes that will be needed.

Reschke replied that "there would be a recommendation in the final plan of zoning changes which would have to be carried out."

Reschke reviewed the results of the Master Plan survey which had been conducted at the election on November 6, 1990. Five hundred and eighty voters, or 20% of eligible voters, responded. The National Honor Society at the Sutton High School tabulated the results. The survey dealt with Sutton people, where and how they live and where they work, play, and shop. It asked opinions on development, roads, sewers, water, utilities, other town services, schools, shopping, restaurants and entertainment. Copies of the survey results are available in the Town Planner's office.

The formal meeting adjourned at 9:00 p.m.

Baker Appointed Permanent Chief in Sutton

By Lawrence Moore

SUTTON - The December 18 selectmen's meeting was called to order by Vice Chair Wally Johnson in the absence of Chairwoman Mary K. Connor.

Camp Marion

Blois reported that approval for the use of washed sand above the high water mark at Camp Marion has not yet been received from the State's Water Pollution Control division. The choice is either to buy sand or test town supplies to see if they meet the criteria. Chizy said he would be glad to approach some gravel operations. "I'm sure they'll be glad to help," he said.

Blois told board members that clearing of brush and trees is proceeding at Camp Marion. He also said that it may be possible to use wood from the upper houses to board up the lower ones.

It was noted that four people have expressed interest in the docks, eliminating a problem for the town.

According to Blois, the road, beach, and parking lot need to be engineered and prepared.

Manchaug Santa

Manchaug Santa Harvey Bileau, accompanied by Sally Benoit and Philip and Irene Berube, presented the Selectmen with a check for $1005.89 with a promise of more to come from pledges. The money will be used to provide recreation facilities in Manchaug. A 48-hour marathon held recently at the Manchaug library was a huge success due to the hard work of many individuals. Benoit offered her thanks to all the participants.

"We're the ones who should be thanking you for your endless efforts," Wally Johnson said. He then read a letter of congratulations from the board.

Chizy asked if the event would be increased to 72 hours next year. Bileau replied that the event would "peter out" if extended too long.

Selectman Rick LaBonte then remarked, "After 48 hours, Santa was just as jovial, just as wide-awake as when he started." Having achieved their goal of $1,000 in spite of inclement weather, the group is planning to do better next year and to make the program an annual event.

Landfill

Johnson said the board would like to see some recycling bins placed at the landfill while awaiting word from the state on a grant for bins.

Blois said he is working with Alex Trenta of the Solid Waste Committee to put bins in on a month to month basis and to reissue the Request for Proposal letter in case the State grant was not received. Event if the grant is awarded, a hauling and tipping fee contract will be necessary, Blois said.

BVRDC

Jack Connor, Industrial Development Commissioner for the Town of Sutton, and Chairman of the Board and President of the Blackstone Valley Regional Development Corporation (BVRDC), brought the board up to date on the status of the BVRDC. He said the mission of the corporation is to enhance the economic life of the Valley, to help businesses expand, and to attract new businesses, thereby expanding job opportunities in the Valley.

A 1988 grant from the Executive Office of Community Development enabled the BVRDC to conduct business seminars, hire a director, and develop a marketing program. According to Connor, the corporation was designated as an agent for bridge financing, arranged loans of $1.5 million in cooperation with banks and businesses, and as a result created 300 new jobs in the Valley.

Conor said there was a possibility that within the next 45 days the corporation would be doing work for a fee, which would enable them to reactivate the marketing program. At that time, they would come to the towns to request the money voted ($1675 in Sutton) for their work. "Even though Massachusetts is in a recession," Connor said, "this is still time to lay the groundwork so that when things turn around we will be ready."

Connor stressed the importance of all 11 towns in the valley speaking "with one voice" for economic development and for the rapid completion of the connector.

LaBonte asked about the relationship of the Mass Pike interchange to the Edgerton project in South Sutton. Connor replied that the project was dependent on the connector. "They already have serious interest from clients," he said, but delay in the connector project would be difficult to reckon with.

Connor said the Edgerton gravel business slowdown has no relation to the real estate project which branch of the business was prospering. "They're working very hard to get the project running," he said. If the project is completed, it could mean $250 million in tax receipts.

LaBonte asked if there was anything the board could do to support the project. Conor replied that the town has already been supportive but noted that "the problems of infrastructure remain a long-term deterrent to the realization of the Valley's potential."

Connor then read his letter of resignation from the Industrial Development Commission and from the BVRDC, citing family and business obligations.

Board members complimented him on his accomplishments and devotion to his job.

Class II License

Victor Tereba was unanimously granted a Class II license for his premises on Pleasant Valley Road next to the highway barn. He will be permitted to repair and sell up to six cars inside the structure, with no signs or vehicles outside.

Police Chief Appointment

Blois then read his letter of appointment of Police Chief William Baker. In the letter, Blois explained that he completed an

Senators-Elect Propose Legislation

Senators-elect Arthur E. Chase and Matthew J. Amorello recently announced proposals they have filed for action during the 1991 Legislative session. They include:

- A constitutional amendment banning the imposition of unfunded state mandates except by a two-thirds vote of the House of Representatives and Senate.

- Mandatory "sunrise review" legislation providing that all newly proposed departments and agencies be reviewed by the Senate Committee on Ways and Means to determine whether their objectives will overlap or conflict with existing agencies. The review includes an estimate of the anticipated annual and 5 year cost of the agency and a description of the revenue sources which will support its operation.

- Mandatory "sunset review" legislation providing that all newly established agencies, boards, and commissions be subject to a review every six years by the Senate Committee on Post Audit and Oversight to determine the need for the agency's continued operation and to justify the agency's continued existence and level of operation and funding.

- Legislation requiring the privatization of the management of the Hynes Convention Center. This bill is being filed in coordination with legislation proposed by Representative Peter Blute of Shrewsbury.

- Legislation limiting to 49% the amount of total lottery revenues paid in prizes.

- A constitutional amendment to abolish the Governor's Council.

- Separate constitutional amendments limiting the terms of state legislators and constitutional officers.

- A constitutional amendment to limit the annual session of the General Court to 6 months.
